MRS. BLACKFORD.

Donn Pintt gives the following des eription of this woman whom he saw in rnilway car at Paris. Looking through s triangular piece of glass that exist otween the compartments, we saw the Phonix citting on the sent opposite, and coolly smoking a cigarette. She wore a gay Ulster with a peaked felt hat and with gloves and boots to match, and as near as we could determine, about twentv-five veers old. Her heir was a light ohestnut, and seemed to be abundant. Her Roman nose, in exquisite proportion, had that cold, delicate outline and thin nostrils that indicate the bird of prey. A short upper lip was in keeping, while the mouth, though full and fair, confirmed the impression the nose had made. The cheeks and jaw were rather heavy, and the whole face told of a Judith who would go in on Holofernes with a knife ready to sever his jugular hid in her bosom or bustle. We could not help contrasting the handsome cruel face of the adventuress with the youthful beauty of the girls in our car-

An Odd State of Ayrains .- The trial of John Camber in Omaha, for murdering James Thompson, makes public an odd State of family affara Thompson boarded with Camberg, and not only leved Mrs. Camberg, but forbade her to show any affection for her husband. She declares that she was induced to obey by fear, Thompson having previously killed two mon, and being apparently willing to kill more. One day Thompson, upon seeing her kiss her husband, stabbed him in the face. After that she was more circumspect, Thompson continuing to board with the family. Later, Thompson commanded her to clope with him, and she was obedient, although she swears she went without wanting to. Camberg searched them out, and at length one evening, stood at the window of a prairie farm house, looking in at them The sight maddened him, and he killed Thompson with a rifle shot. He was equitted, and his wife returned to her

John Bright has written a letter igainst costly functals and the custom of wearing mourning, on the ground that they involve expense which is often a great burden on families of moderate means. The need of reform on both of these points is as great in this country as it can possibly be in Engand. A great deal of money is wested in funeral expenses and mourning garments, which would be much more of life; or in paying honest debts. But things have reached such a pass that a

A LARGE BUSINESS. Payment Stopped.—The following Wholesale and Retail Tobacco Store.

Among the important industries of the country, the tobacco trade occupies a preminent place, and we have never been more forcibly impressed with this fact than we were this morning, while taking a look through the wholesale and retail establishment of Messrs. S. B. Crissey & Co. This firm have re cently moved into their new quarters in Post Office Block, where they carry an immense stock of goods, having constantly on hand nearly half a million cigars, besides a correspondingly large supply of plug, fine-cut and smoking tobaccos. An idea of the business of the firm may be gathered from the fact that two men are kept constantly on the road, looking after the interests of the trade, which extends over the entire State of Illinois, and which will compare favorably in amount with that of any tobacco and eight establishment in Chicago or St. Louis, and is far in excess of that ceived by the Justice, and they have done by any other house in central Illiuols. Buying their stock as they do, direct from the largest manufacturers in the United States, Messrs. Crissoy & Co. are enabled to offer to their patrons adfor those who are up to such tricks, to vantages which are seldon brought within the reach of the retail dealer. Until recently the business of this irm was strictly wholesale, but upon removing to their new and elegant store n pest-office block, a retail department was added, and a look at the splendid stock displayed in the show-cases is enough to make any old smoker's mouth usually found in such an establishment. and a specialty is made in the line of extra fine imported Key West and clear Havana cigars. These vary in price, tom the clear Hayana filler, at five cents each, to the elegant imported article, which sells for half a dollar. Such a variety, and so much excellency, ought to insure a good trade, and doubtless Mr. S. B. Crissey, the senior member of the firm, has been known as one of once agreeable. healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. It soon restores faded or gray hair to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed; but such as remain can be saved by this application, and stimulated into activity, so that a new growth of huir is produced. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sedi-ment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. The restoration of vitality it gives to the scalp arrests and prevents the forma-tion of dandruff, which is often so uncleanly and offensive. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustro, and a grateful perfume.
